EIGHT LEFT IN THE CASTLE CUP TENNIS TOURNAMENT

At Beretania:
4:15 p. m.—Hoogs (B) vs. Graham
(D); Guard (C) vs. Barnes (D).
5 p. m.—Baldwin (D) vs. Davis (D);
Warren (C) vs. Ricker (E).

With the preliminary and first round matches run off in two days, due to excellent management and the use of three club grounds, the second round matches of the Castle cup tournament will be started this afternoon. Eight players remain to fight for the trophy, and the luck of the draw has distributed the talent pretty evenly between the upper and lower halves.

W. Hoogs, Class B, is undoubtedly the class of the upper half, but the handicaps are well arranged, and to date have brought the players on a very even footing, and made close matches. Hoogs plays Graham, a Class D man, and if he wins he will meet either Baldwin or Davis for a place in the finals. Both the latter are Class D.

Jack Guard and W. L. Warren are the highest ranking men in the lower half. C. If both win their matches in the next round they will meet in the semi-finals.

There were some interesting matches yesterday, with many close sets.

In several matches the result was in doubt, up to the very last point, and the players were keyed up to a high pitch of interest and endeavor.

Following were the results of yesterday's first-round matches:

Beretania courts—Davis (D) beat Howland (B), 1-6, 6-4, 6-1; Graham (D) beat Pratt (D), 5-7, 7-5, 6-3; Warren (C) beat O'Dowda (C), 6-4, 6-4; Guard (C) beat Henoch (B), 6-3, 7-5.

Pacific courts—Hoogs (B) beat F.M. (D), 6-4, 9-7; Baldwin (D) beat Pfluger (C), 6-3, 6-3.

Manoa courts—Ricker (E) beat Steere (D), 6-1, 10-8; Barnes (D) beat Rice (E), by default.

On account of the Hawaiian band having three concerts scheduled for today, Kapellmeister Berger has postponed the engagement at Ala park this evening. The band played at the departure of the Wilhelm from Pier 15 this morning, and in Bishop park at noon. A 5:30 o'clock this evening concert will be given at Pier 7, at which time the Makura will depart.

EXERTION FATIGUED HIS BRAIN

Thought It Was Impossible to Overcome Premature Old Age.

A friend's advice may be cheap, but it does not pay to ignore it, particularly when your nerve power is impaired.

Anyone suffering from premature old age will take hope from the words of a gentleman, who says "Some months ago, I was recommended to try Persian Nerve Essence by a friend. I was at first doubtful, for I thought it impossible to find any remedy which would give real results; but today, I wish to give my most grateful congratulations."

I was in a state of mental debility. Any exertion made in matters of mercantile calculation fatigued my brain, my memory not my heavy and slow walk which I had at that time, not corresponding to my age. Today I find myself entirely recovered after taking only two boxes of so useful a preparation, and therefore it is a great pleasure to write you this letter, as it is only just to your medical preparation which produces so much good."

Persian Nerve Essence is a dependable remedy for nervous prostration or exhaustion, debility or inactivity of the nerves. It has brought happiness, strength, vigor, and vital power to young men prematurely aged and to the middle-aged and old who have suffered from a breakdown of mental and physical vigor.

The action of the oriental properties of Persian Nerve Essence is almost magical; the bright eye, the elastic step, the clear and active brain, the courage, strength and comfort they impart, are almost immediately apparent. The way has been shown to you—start today to regain your health.

One box of Persian Nerve Essence is frequently sufficient; in obstinate cases it may be necessary to take a full treatment of six boxes to obtain the best results. It is absolutely guaranteed that the full treatment of six boxes will produce the most satisfactory results or the money will be refunded. Give Persian Nerve Essence a good fair trial, commence now—today—and be a well man.

The name of Persian Nerve Essence is now changed to Sensapera for purposes of registration. The preparation has not been changed in any way, only the name. Sold by all druggists and by The Chambers Drug Co., Ltd. THE BROWN EXPORT CO., 74 Cortlandt St., New York, N.Y., U.S.A.

CHINESE TEAM TO MAKE ITS INITIAL BOW

The Chinese Athletic Union's recently organized All-Chinese team is now practicing daily at Athletic park for its game next Sunday afternoon against the Portuguese A. C. Captain Lai Tin is very confident of victory, and the Chinese community will undoubtedly be out in force to greet this new aggregation.

"Handsome" Luck Yee will make his initial appearance here since his last trip to the mainland with the All-Chinese team. He has plenty of speed and he ought to keep the Portuguese guessing. Luck was one of the star twirlers of the original All-Chinese team, and is a great favorite among the Chinese fans. The Chinese line-up as given out by Captain Lai Tin, so far, includes the following men: Ah Toon, c; Luck Yee and Hoon Ki, p; Ah Lee, 2nd base; Alex. Asam, 3rd base; Lai Tin, s.s.; Lang Akana, l.f.; Kam Fat, c.f.; Yen Chin, r.f.; Akai Luke, J. Amoy and Tin Yen, substitutes.

Manager Pareira has not yet decided upon his list of players, but Pareira will undoubtedly have his best men up. The Portuguese team is trying out several new men and until Pareira can have a good opportunity to look them over, he is yet undecided as to who his men will be.

The Chinese management wish it to be known that there is no friction among them, notwithstanding rumors to this effect. The players are all in harmony and as soon as they can be gotten together, an election will be held for officers.

Fort Shafter Notes

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence.]
FORT SHAFTER, Mar. 24.—Mrs. Charles S. Lincoln of the garrison has been a patient in the department hospital during the past week and is not yet sufficiently convalescent to return to her quarters. Mrs. Lincoln was a surgical patient of Captain Owen and while the operation performed was one of a major character, none of her many friends were alarmed as to the ultimate outcome. She has progressed most favorably in every respect and will shortly be able to receive visits from her friends who have been constant in inquiry and solicitude during her illness. Mrs. Lincoln has been beautifully remembered in her stay at the hospital by an amazingly large number of flower gifts from the large circle that counts itself as her friends and these remembrances have done much to solace the sufferer during her illness and recuperation.

Three of the proposed 10 sets of non-commissioned officers' quarters in the cantonment have been completed by Captain Watkins and are ready for assignment to the seniors of the grade that is to occupy the comfortable little habitations. These quarters are of the cantonment type and while not nearly of the class and construction of the buildings in the main post that were built for the non-commissioned officers and that are now in use as quarters for officers are still habitable and fairly comfortable in size. At all events the houses in question are a decided improvement over the makeshift tent quarters that the non-commissioned officers have been living in since the large increase of the Fort Shafter garrison occurred.

The quarters as built are of three rooms and bath and are finished in exactly the same manner as are the slightly more roomy quarters that have been provided for the commissioned officers who are quartered in the cantonment. Work on the remaining sets to supply the complement required for the married soldiers of the non-commissioned grade will be pushed to completion and at an early date so that those men may be enabled to get their families settled in permanent homes before the long season of field instruction with its required absences from the garrison will have come on.

The usual upset of the wise ones in baseball took place yesterday when E. of the Signal Corps cowed D of the 2d Infantry in a hot and well played game by the score of 2 to 1. A big crowd was out to see the game, which was the second of a double header and as both teams were well supported by rooters the interest was not allowed to abate at any time during the seven innings that constitute a game in the post league. Of the several hundred spectators of the game, it is safe to say that not a dozen would have hazarded the prediction that D would lose to the wigwaggers; and yet it really happened and the losers were not outlucked either. Captain Gibbs' crew was there with the stick and though Peed for D was pitching good ball, and receiving splendid support from Lieutenant Lyman back of the rubber, the hits would come and at just the right time, and in the proper sequence to push the runner around to home.

Had Captain Chamberlain's men pulled out winners in the game the big cup would now have an owner. As it is, Lieutenant Lyman and his men will have to go on for at least one round before that ownership will be definitely settled. D still has to play

HARRY HARPER IN ACTION.

The brilliant young pitcher of the Washington American baseball team, Harry Harper, hails from Hackensack, N. J., where he rose to fame as an amateur. Harper, who is a southpaw, is developing an underhanded upshoot which he hopes will prove very bewildering. He and Christy Mathewson are the only two big league players who refuse to play ball on Sunday.

"ANGEL" OF BRITISH POLO TEAM IS OF NOTED FAMILY

[By Latest Mail.]
LONDON.—Truly a remarkable family is the lordly one of Guest, which, owing to the death of its venerable former head, Lord Wimborne, has a new one in the person of the erstwhile Lord Ashby St. Ledgers, peer, privy-councillor, polo player, politician, and at present paymaster-general to his majesty's forces.

In the third of these capacities the new Lord Wimborne's chief ambition at present is to recapture for Great Britain the international polo cup now held by the United States, with which aim he will take a team across the Atlantic next summer. This team, by the way, will practice near Madrid, the Spanish capital, where its members already are assembling.

With the personality and record of the new Lord Wimborne, Americans are already passably familiar. He is now 41, and besides being a fair all-round sportsman, has seen warfare, having served in the South African campaign. He first entered parliament as a unionist in 1900, but later turned his political coat over the question of tariff reform, and eventually became paymaster-general under the liberal government in 1910. More than once, by the bye, he has been spoken of as successor to the present Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, whenever the venerable Lord Aberdeen vacates that post, an event which is not likely to be long delayed.

Overshadowed by Mother.
Lord Wimborne's remarkable mother, however, more or less overshadows him, just as she completely overshadowed her late husband, who, for the last years of his life lived practically in retirement at his country seat in Dorsetshire, while his brilliant and energetic spouse did the honors of Wimborne house, Arlington street, which is one of the finest residences in London, and for many years has been a center of political activity. The grande dame was one of the daughters of the seventh duke of Marlborough and a sister of the renowned Lord Randolph Churchill, who had a meteoric career in British politics and went to America for a wife. It is commonly asserted that it was Lady Wimborne who converted her now famous nephew, Winston Churchill, who at present is first lord of the admiralty, to liberalism, and, however that may be, her political influence is undoubtedly powerful and frequently has been exerted.

Too actively, once, at least, for, after several unsuccessful efforts she managed to get her second son, Capt. F. E. Guest, returned for parliament in East Dorsetshire, only to have him unseated on petition on the ground of corruption, a thing which must have been a sad blow for his ambitious American wife, the former Amy Phipps. A great church woman, too, Lady Wimborne once attracted a lot of attention by starting an ecclesiastical book shop close to Piccadilly, which, however, proved a losing venture. In fact, her ladyship is rarely out of the limelight of publicity.

The new Lord Wimborne, by the bye, originally was the Hon. Ivor Guest, this being the real name of his family, who made their fortune in iron. Elevated originally to the peerage by the liberal government, he took his second title of Ashby St. Ledgers from his place in Warwickshire, where he hunts with the famous Pynchley pack. The family motto of the Guests is, "By iron, not by the sword," which indicates the source of their wealth.

The oldest and largest iron works in South Wales, the Great Dowlais Works, as they are called, were established by the late peer's great-grandfather, John Guest, who migrated in 1747 from Shropshire to Glamorgan. Tradition says that he and his partner possessed between them no property save one horse, which they took turns in riding.

Responding to suggestions from local theater-goers, the Spaulding Musical Comedy Company, including the full cast of musical and dancing specialists, will take up vaudeville for the remainder of its engagement in Honolulu, making its initial bow to patrons of the Bijou theater with the performance given this evening. The versatility of the various members of the aggregation it is predicted will be readily demonstrated with the change of program. New and first class turns are to be introduced. The bill includes a 20-minute sketch in which George Spaulding, James Guilfoyle and Miss Wood participate. It is entitled "The Outlaw." The De Von sisters are on the boards for several pleasing numbers. These artists will be heard in catchy songs and seen in intricate steps. Miss Hattie De Von's song, "The Whip-poor-will," with the assistance of the chorus will please. Margaret De Von will sing "Silvery Moon." "Oh, You Grizzly Bear," is declared an original vehicle in which the sisters will again be heard to advantage. Paisley Noon will offer "The Valley of the Moon," a song adapted from Jack London's latest novel.

The promise is given that the bill at the Bijou for the remainder of the week will be a diversified one. Two performances will be given nightly. In addition to the regular vaudeville features two late releases from mainland studios will be flashed across the screen. On Friday evening the Spaulding company will present the chorus girls' contest as an added attraction.

MATTY TALKS ON BIG OFFER MADE BY FEDS

By CHRISTY MATHEWSON.
Until I had definitely signed with the Giants again, I made no comment on the Federal league or the offer of that organization to me. In fact, there was nothing definite in the way of an offer until I received a telegram from President Gilmore a few hours after putting my signature to the National league contract. But even if this offer, which has been published in the papers, had been made a few hours before signing it would not have influenced me.

The proposition came out of a clear sky and was unexpected. I have learned since that the Federals believed I was signed all winter and that it was not until a New York newspaper man happened to mention the fact to Gilmore in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York late one night that I was unsigned that any action was taken. My information comes from New York correspondents who are here with the team in Marlborough and who were present when Mr. Gilmore made his discovery. According to these men, the incident developed through a fanning bee in the Waldorf. Here is the story as told to me by a New York reporter now with the Giants in Marlborough.

Thought Matty Was Signed.
"We were all sitting around the Waldorf late one night, fanning and discussing the Federal league when one of the boys said to Gilmore: 'Why don't you make Matty an offer?'"

"He's signed, isn't he?" asked Mr. Gilmore.

"No more than I am. His contract expired last season, and he has not signed the new one yet."

"Gilmore at once left the party and sent a telegram to you. Then he announced his action to us newspaper men, and the story appeared in the papers the next day."

As a matter of fact, I never considered going to the Federals and did not answer the telegram, which did not make any definite statement of terms. It merely asked me whether I would consider an offer to go with the new league as a manager. When the Los Angeles reporters inquired about the possibility, I told them the only thing there was to say—that I would consider the offer. But all the time I knew I would not desert the New York club, which had practically made me in baseball.

In saying this, I am not attempting to belittle the Federal league in any way. I saw several reports in the newspapers during the winter and early spring months that I was the agent of organized baseball on the coast and that I had been busy counterbalancing the bids of Federal league agents for the players spending the winter there. I kept clear of both baseball on the diamond and the politics of baseball last winter because I did not care to have it on my mind. I was having too much fun playing golf, and it is not in my province as merely a player to try to influence others to take certain steps which some day they might regret and then blame me for their mistakes.

Wilson Eager for Work.
For instance, Arthur Wilson, the New York catcher, received a big offer to go with the Federals with the promise of a large piece of advance money. Wilson has been pining for the chance to work regularly with a big league club for two or three years now and was weary of sitting on the bench, absorbing information in this position about how it is done in the majors. As I said in a previous article, Wilson even asked McGraw to transfer him to a minor league team for this season so that he could have an opportunity to work daily. Now, if the Federal league turns out to be a big success, and if I had advised Wilson to refuse its offer and stick with the Giants, he might have said to me some day:

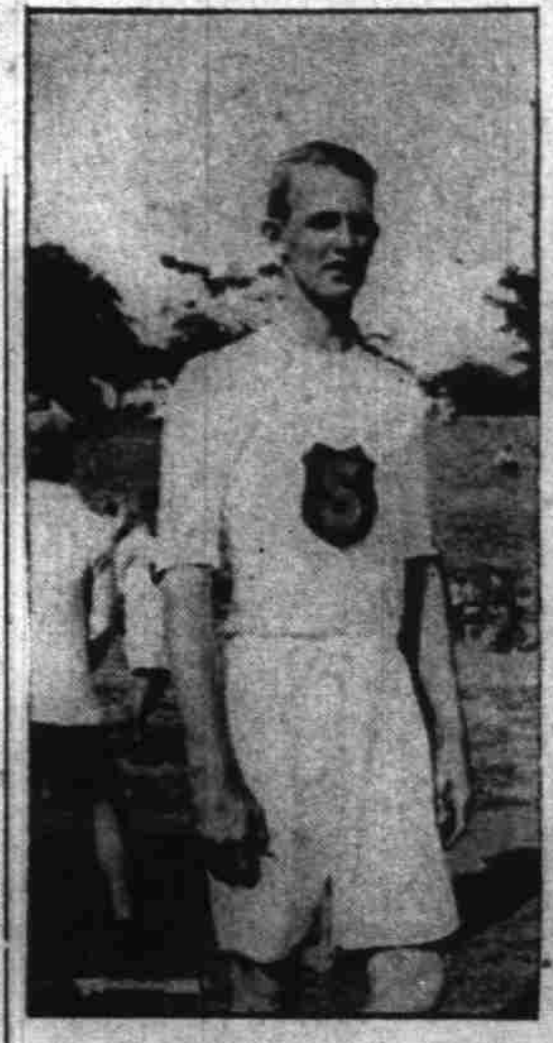

"Well, I took your advice and am still sitting on the bench. If I had gone with the Federals I might have been a star now."

Without occupying any more exalted position than a pitcher on the staff of the New York club, I don't want to meddle in baseball politics or endeavor to influence other men in the game. Whether Wilson made a mistake, in my opinion, I don't care to say. And I want to add that I consider the Federal league offer to me a compliment.

Counsel—I'm sorry I couldn't do more for you, Guv'nor. Client—Don't mention it, Guv'nor; ain't five years enough?—London Opinion.

Janssen's Accident Sad Blow to Saints

William Janssen of St. Louis College, prominent in the pole-vault and high jump.

The fact that William Janssen, one of the crack athletes of St. Louis College, spiked himself while engaged in the high jump during the interscholastic track and field meet at Alexander Field last Saturday afternoon, proved a keen disappointment to his team-mates. The collegians uphold that had the accident not occurred, Janssen would have established a new record in this event.

How to Care for Teeth

Good teeth are not accidental. They are our birthright. If by reason of lack of early training we failed to preserve our birthright, for the sake of our children let's not let the coming generation have poor teeth. Let's teach them habits of cleanliness as regards their teeth. They will thank us for it later.

Teeth kept perfectly clean cannot decay. Decay is caused by bacteria which find lodgment in protected places on tooth surfaces and by breaking down the sweets and starches of food remnants produce an acid that demolishes the tooth substances. It is regarded as impossible to avoid all decay without constant attention for the purpose of keeping all tooth surfaces absolutely clean, but with such care as can be given by proper brushing and rinsing the teeth and mouth three times a day and the use of silk floss once a day it is probable that 75 per cent of the decay in children's teeth may be avoided.

It is highly important to protect the teeth of children, for with decayed teeth food cannot be properly chewed and improperly chewed food cannot be properly digested. As a consequence proper body development is impaired, progress in studies is retarded and resistance to disease is rendered below par. Constant swallowing of the food products of decay, combined with the lack of proper assimilation of food, produces anemia, scurvy, rickets, rheumatism and a number of ailments classed as "school diseases." If "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," it is manifestly worth while to avoid these conditions by remedying the defects of teeth which so commonly cause them.

To properly brush the teeth and accomplish the most good, select a medium stiff brush with tufted bristles, and in brushing place the brush, with bristles up, beside the upper teeth and rotate, so that the bristles will cleanse both gums and teeth. Brush the opposite way when cleansing the lower teeth. To cleanse the inner surfaces of the teeth use the end of the brush. Also, use the brush on the tongue and palate and finally rinse the mouth thoroughly, forcing the water between the teeth.

The most important tooth in the mouth, and the one most frequently lost through decay, is the first per-

CHINA AWAKES TO ENDEAVOR IN ATHLETICS

Eleven clubs in Eastern China have joined the Feds.

This is not a baseball scoop, but a new organization to add to the list of 18 amateur federations, patterned after the original Cook County A. A. F., organized Dec. 16, 1908, in Chicago. The 11 clubs in Eastern China are colleges, Y. M. C. A. centers and public schools, and they have formed the nineteenth federation, known as the East China Amateur Athletic Federation.

The new organization is being fathered by an American and a Canadian—A. H. Swan, former director of the West Side Y. M. C. A. in Chicago, and a student at the University of Chicago, and J. H. Crocker, who managed the Canadian Olympic team for the games in 1908 at London.

Worked Long Time on Plan.
Swan is physical director and Crocker is secretary of the Shanghai Y. M. C. A., and they have been working for some time on the plan that has finally taken root in the Chinese republic. Associated with the two Y. M. C. A. men are R. D. Smart of the Soochow university, an American; L. C. Healy of the Chinese public school of Shanghai, an American; H. A. Vanderbeek, English leader of the Nanyang college, and Y. S. Dey of the National Recreation Club of Shanghai, an Englishman.

The clubs in the new association are the St. John's College, Nanyang College, National Recreation Club, the Shanghai Chinese public school and the Shanghai Anglo-Chinese public school, the Ellis Kadoorie school, the Shanghai Y. M. C. A., the Soochow university, the University of Nanking, the Shanghai Baptist College and the government Institute of Technology of Shanghai.

Will Stage Meet at Shanghai.
Associated with these clubs is a delegate of the Far Eastern Olympic Games Association, which was organized two years ago by the Manila F. I. federation, and has been conducting yearly games series in the East on the pattern of the Olympic games held every four years by Occidental athletic managers. The Far Eastern games will be held next year in Shanghai, and the new federation is one of the movements toward bettering teams for that tourney.

Track and field athletics are taking a strong hold in the Orient, as has been shown in the Far Eastern Olympics, where Chinese athletes were considered among the best in the world. The Y. M. C. A. organizations in China have done great work in the last few years, according to Director Swan in a letter to Chicago federation men, and the federation organization is just another step toward athletic supremacy there.
